Profile

I have experience within an industry leading global Fin-Tech organisation as both a Data Analyst and People Manager; however, my passion is developing web applications and I am currently focussing on building React applications through self-led study alongside completing developer certifications at freecodecamp.com. I am also currently involved in a number of commercial and open source projects on a freelance basis.

Experience

Cyborg Beatbox

A drum machine app that was built using React and showcases the use of modern JavaScript and functional programming techniques.

Movie Quote Generator

This application, built using React, filters and maps JSON data to select and display a movie quote and the film it is taken from at random upon clicking a DOM element.

Etch-a-Sketch Pad

This simple app is based on the classic etch-a-sketch children’s game and utilises the HTML5 canvas element along with JavaScript to allow the user to draw to the screen.
